Peso forecast: Sizzling

Swiss bank sees 54:$1
by December

By SIA Compaq
 The peso is sizzling today (5) continues to sizzle about 50¢ and because of the peso's performance in the regional and global markets, it is expected to reach 54:$1 by December.

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has forecast that the peso will reach 54:$1 by the end of 2005. The IMF's forecast is based on the assumption that the peso will continue to sizzle at the current rate.

The peso's performance in the regional and global markets has been impressive. The peso has risen from 50:$1 in July 2004 to 54:$1 today. This is a significant increase, especially considering the fact that the peso has been under a lot of pressure in the past few months.

The peso's rise is attributed to several factors. First, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine economy. The Philippine economy has been growing at a steady pace, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Second, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine stock market. The Philippine stock market has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Third, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine real estate market. The Philippine real estate market has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Fourth, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine tourism industry. The Philippine tourism industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Fifth, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine manufacturing industry. The Philippine manufacturing industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Sixth, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine services industry. The Philippine services industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Seventh, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine telecommunications industry. The Philippine telecommunications industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Eighth, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine information technology industry. The Philippine information technology industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

Ninth, the peso has been supported by the strong performance of the Philippine entertainment industry. The Philippine entertainment industry has been on a roll, and this has helped to boost the peso's value.

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese, and by 2000, that number had risen to 23 percent. The increase in obesity is a major public health concern because it is a leading risk factor for heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that obesity costs the United States $147 billion each year in medical costs and lost productivity. The CDC also estimates that obesity is responsible for 280,000 deaths each year in the United States.

For quality education, double teachers' pay, says DepEd exec

By Mark Abo
Manila Inquirer Staff
The Philippines' education system is in a state of crisis, says a senior executive of the Department of Education (DepEd).
"The system is in a state of crisis because of the low quality of education and the low quality of the teachers," said DepEd Secretary Armin Luistro.
"We need to double the pay of teachers to attract the best talent to the profession and to ensure that they are motivated to provide quality education to our children."

Luistro said that the current salary of teachers is not enough to attract the best talent to the profession. Diabetes is a chronic condition that affects millions of people around the world. It is a condition that can lead to serious complications if not properly managed. One of the most important aspects of managing diabetes is controlling blood sugar levels. This is where Glucerna comes in. Glucerna is a nutritional supplement that is specifically designed for people with diabetes. It contains a blend of nutrients that help to control blood sugar levels and provide essential vitamins and minerals. Glucerna is available in a variety of forms, including powder, liquid, and soft-serve. It can be used as a meal replacement or as a supplement to a healthy diet. Glucerna is a safe and effective way to manage diabetes and improve your overall health.

- Lower Than Potatoes: 100g of Glucerna has a lower glycemic index than potatoes, which means it won't cause a spike in blood sugar levels.
- High in Protein: 100g of Glucerna contains 10g of protein, which helps to keep you feeling full and satisfied.
- Low in Sugar: 100g of Glucerna contains only 10g of sugar, which is much lower than most other meal replacements.
- Easy to Digest: Glucerna is easy to digest and doesn't cause any stomach upset.
- Supports Heart Health: Glucerna is rich in heart-healthy nutrients like omega-3 fatty acids and fiber.
- Supports Bone Health: Glucerna is a good source of calcium and vitamin D, which are essential for bone health.

The raids in suburban Sydney and Sydney city itself, which were carried out by a joint task force of police and intelligence officers, were described as "one of the most significant operations in the history of the force."

The police said they had arrested 17 men, including a cleric, and seized a large quantity of explosives and firearms. They also said they had recovered a large quantity of cash and a number of other items.

The cleric, who was charged with leading the terror plot, was identified as a member of a radical Islamic group. He was charged with leading a terror plot to carry out a major attack on a major target in Sydney.

French go curfews to PARIS—PRESIDENT JACQUES Chirac prepared to convene an emergency cabinet meeting Tuesday to empower the authorities to clamp down curfews on lawless suburbs after rioters rampaged across France for the 12th straight night.

Police reported 330 arrests and said the youths burned 1,173 vehicles. Twelve officers were lightly injured and some reported being fired at, but not hit, with buckshot.

The unrest is the worst the country has experienced since student revolts in 1968.

Prime Minister Dominique de Villepin said late Monday he was invoking a 60-year-old law first brought in as an unsuccessful attempt to quell an insurrection in Algeria, at a time when the north African country was a French colony.

Villepin, speaking on national television, said regional authorities would be given the power to impose curfews "where necessary." The measure—effectively a state of emergency for areas around cities and towns—would ban night time movements of people and vehicles and allow police to set up roadblocks around certain zones.

French media Tuesday were skeptical that curfews would stop the unrest.

The financial daily La Tribune said the measures were necessary but "they are not—by a long shot—sufficient." The left-wing daily Liberation called Chirac's rule "a tragic farce" for resorting to a law created in 1955 to cope

MUZAFFARABAD, PAKISTAN—The estimated death toll in South Asia's huge earthquake jumped Tuesday to 87,350 after a new count of the dead in Pakistan, while UN workers raced the Himalayan winter to bring shelter to 350,000 of the neediest survivors one month after the disaster.

The toll in Pakistan jumped to 86,000—or 13,000 higher than the government's official toll so far—under a broad assessment by the World Bank and Asian Development Bank, working with local governments and aid agencies, Pakistani Finance Ministry official Iqbal Ahmed Khan said Tuesday.

India has reported 1,350 deaths in its territory.

Khan said the new tally for Pakistan came after more bodies were recovered from debris in the quake zone and assessment teams reached areas previously inaccessible due to landslides unleashed by the magnitude-7.6 quake and its hundreds of aftershocks.

"This is their assessment, which we think is fair enough," Khan said. "They had various teams in the field. This is feedback from the field."

Life, love and survival at Luisita

By [Name] and [Name]

LUISITA, N.M., Oct. 28 (AP) — In the heart of the desert, a small town of 1,000 people has become a haven for thousands of birds. The town, known for its adobe buildings and historic mission, is now a bird sanctuary. The birds, which include sandwich finches, are attracted to the town's unique architecture and the surrounding desert landscape. The town's residents have learned to live with the birds, and the birds have learned to live with the town. The town's name, Luisita, means "little Luis," and it is a testament to the town's resilience and the birds' survival.

Merrill Lynch, IBS turn bullish on RP

MANILA, Philippines — Merrill Lynch and IBS have turned bullish on the Philippines, citing the country's strong economic growth and potential for further expansion.

Merrill Lynch's research report on the Philippines, published last week, noted that the country's economy is growing at a rapid pace, driven by strong demand for consumer goods and services.

IBS, a leading international business school, also expressed optimism about the Philippines' economic future, citing the country's strategic location and growing market.

ABC-5 gets P500M from new investors

MANILA, Philippines — ABC-5 has secured a P500 million investment from a group of new investors, including a major foreign firm, to expand its operations and improve its programming.

The investment will be used to upgrade the station's facilities, including its newsroom and production studios, and to hire more staff.

ABC-5's management expressed gratitude to the investors for their confidence in the station and its future prospects.

Jupiter returns

A 61-year-old woman with a 10-year history of rheumatoid arthritis (RA) presented with a 2-week history of progressive weakness and numbness in both lower extremities. She had no recent falls, trauma, or changes in her usual medications. Her medical history was significant for RA, hypertension, and type 2 diabetes mellitus. She was on chronic low-dose prednisone (5 mg daily) and had been on chronic low-dose aspirin (81 mg daily) for her RA. Her physical examination was remarkable for mild bilateral lower extremity weakness and sensory deficits. Her laboratory studies, including complete blood count, comprehensive metabolic panel, and thyroid function tests, were within normal limits. Her serum vitamin B12 level was 150 pg/mL (normal range 180-914 pg/mL). Her serum folate level was 12 ng/mL (normal range 7-25 ng/mL). Her serum homocysteine level was 18 μmol/L (normal range 5-15 μmol/L). Her serum methylmalonic acid (MMA) level was 0.4 μmol/L (normal range 0-0.2 μmol/L). Her serum creatinine level was 1.2 mg/dL. Her electrocardiogram (ECG) was normal. Her magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) of the spine showed no significant abnormalities. Her cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) analysis showed normal protein and glucose levels, and no red blood cells or white blood cells. Her CSF MMA level was 0.1 μmol/L (normal range 0-0.2 μmol/L). Her CSF folate level was 1.2 ng/mL (normal range 0.5-2.5 ng/mL). Her CSF homocysteine level was 1.8 μmol/L (normal range 0.5-1.5 μmol/L). Her CSF vitamin B12 level was 150 pg/mL (normal range 180-914 pg/mL). Her CSF folate level was 12 ng/mL (normal range 7-25 ng/mL). Her CSF homocysteine level was 18 μmol/L (normal range 5-15 μmol/L). Her CSF MMA level was 0.4 μmol/L (normal range 0-0.2 μmol/L). Her CSF creatinine level was 1.2 mg/dL. Her CSF ECG was normal. Her CSF MRI showed no significant abnormalities. Her CSF CSF analysis showed normal protein and glucose levels, and no red blood cells or white blood cells. Her CSF MMA level was 0.1 μmol/L (normal range 0-0.2 μmol/L). Her CSF folate level was 1.2 ng/mL (normal range 0.5-2.5 ng/mL). Her CSF homocysteine level was 1.8 μmol/L (normal range 0.5-1.5 μmol/L). THE JUPITER EFFECT is a term used to describe the phenomenon of a couple who stay together for a long time.

Are you still together?

It's a question that many couples ask themselves. The answer is often a simple one: Yes. But the question is often asked in a way that suggests a couple is not together. The answer is often a simple one: Yes. But the question is often asked in a way that suggests a couple is not together.
